U. S. Submits Palestine Plan; Dodges Stand

By LARRY HAUCK

Lake Success, April 20 —(AP)—The United States today offered for United Nations consideration a 47-point trusteeship plan for Palestine.

There was no commitment of American troops. The document, labeled by American sportsman as a group of suggestions and not a formal proposal, dodged a stand on who should maintain peace in the Holy Land.

Embodiment of most of the previous informal United States suggestions, the plan said merely that a group of nations to be selected later should defend Palestine and keep order.

Delegate Warren R. Austin presented the draft plan to the assembly's 58-nation political committee, which began consideration of the whole Palestine problem. The fate of the assembly's 1947 decision to partition the Holy Land will be decided during the debate.

The American document was a combination of 15 general principles put before the Security Council by Austin and the draft statute for the city of Jerusalem prepared by the U. N. trusteeship council. The plan was circulated privately to council members last night but Austin received clearance for public presentation today.

The trusteeship could be terminated by assembly agreement on a permanent plan of government or by successful plebiscite on a permanent plan. The vote could not be taken for at least three years.

In theory, this would mean that partition could eventually be put into effect. However, Arab opposition to the split-up scheme is not expected to diminish.

The plan provides for a U. N. appointed governor-general with virtual dictator powers. He would rule the Holy Land with an advisory council until a trusteeship government could be set up.

That government would include legislative and judicial branches and a cabinet, topped by a prime minister. The upper House would have 30 members, half Arabs and half Jews. The lower body would be selected on a proportional population basis, which would mean a heavy Arab majority.

Wallace Doesn't Want Communism in U. S., He Says

New York, April 20 —(UP)—Henry A. Wallace, third party presidential candidate, said last night that he did not want communism in the United States. He said "home-grown fascism" was a greater menace than communism.

Wallace and his running mate, Charles McNamara (D., Ind.), spoke at a $100-a-plate dinner at the Hotel Commodore, which raised an estimated $100,000 for the third party campaign. Taylor predicted the party would receive 20,000,000 votes in November.

Saratog, head of the anti-Communist Socialists, told newsmen: "The Italian section means a re-birth of Democracy in Europe. The victory of Democratic forces is a great setback to Russia and Communist plans for expansion."

"Italy is now a part of Western Europe and not of the Balkans," he said. "The Italian section means a re-birth of Democracy in Europe. The victory of Democratic forces is a great setback to Russia and Communist plans for expansion."

Premier Alcide De Gasperi's American-backed Christian Democratic Party won a half the total votes in the election last night between the east and the west, and may yet get an absolute majority.

Early returns on the Chamber of Deputies indicated a similar crushing defeat for the Communists. The Italian section means a re-birth of Democracy in Europe. The victory of Democratic forces is a great setback to Russia and Communist plans for expansion."

The Interior ministry's tabulation of the vote, counted first, gave the Christian Democrats 2,871,569, or 47.4 percent of the vote. The Popular Front coalition of Communist and left-wing Socialists got 3,382,976 votes, or 52.3 percent.

Returns from 4,478 of 41,525 sections in the vote for the Chamber gave the Christian Democrats 2,871,569, or 47.4 percent of the vote. The Popular Front coalition of Communist and left-wing Socialists got 3,382,976 votes, or 52.3 percent.

The vote for minor parties swelled the anti-Communist total. Alcide De Gasperi, Italy's Christian Democratic premier, said the returns were beyond his fondest dreams.

The returns were running steadily against the Communist Party. De Gasperi said his party's victory showed Italy's "firm intention not to be Bolshevized."

The Communists had little to say about the results. L'Unita, Communist newspaper, said the Front "without doubt will represent a decisive element in the future Parliament and in the group."

Pope Pius XII, smiling happily, told American newsmen he will give them a formal statement within a day or two. There was no mistaking the Pope's obvious satisfaction with the returns thus far in this monumental struggle between Moscow and the West.

The Vatican-backed Christian Democrats triumphantly invaded the so-called "Red North." Returns in Milan showed the Christian Democrats and their allies running two to one ahead of the Communists in the Chamber elections. In Genoa, a Communist stronghold, the anti-Communist had a comfortable lead. In Rome, the Christian Democrats, the Pope's party, were leading.

Violence flared again at some points. Milan police said unidentified raiders attacked an army munitions dump near the city early today. It was the second such attack there. Troops repelled a raid two nights ago.

At Codogno, on the Po river near an army dump, police reported a Continued on Page Two

Suit to Halt Horse Racing Is Dismissed

Little Rock, April 20 —(AP)—Chancellor Frank H. Dodge today dismissed a suit challenging constitutionality of the 1935 Arkansas horse racing law.

The chancellor ruled that parliament betting was a game of skill and did not violate the constitutional prohibitions against lottery. The suit had been filed by James "Uncle Mac" MacKrell, radio evangelist and candidate for governor.

The chancellor also denied MacKrell's request for an order directing the State Racing Commission to permit the state comptroller to audit the commission books. The court said this request was based on a separate action.

MacKrell's counsel said an appeal would be made to the Arkansas Supreme Court. Chancellor Dodge said "it seems to me that a horse race is just a game of skill."

Therefore gambling on it is not a lottery. Bruce Bullin, state revenue department attorney who opposed the MacKrell suit for the State Racing Commission had told the court that the state comptroller was a lottery. These, he said, were a consideration, an offered prize and chance.

"Chance is the element which is lacking in parliament betting," he said. At the outset of the hearing, the chancellor had permitted intervention in the suit.

Intervention had been sought by Robert Roach, Little Rock paper executive, in the suit brought by James "Uncle Mac" MacKrell, radio evangelist and candidate for governor.

Roach's intervention charged that the suit was an attempt to defame the state's revenue department which had exceeded $4,500,000 in 1947.

MacKrell contended that the law which legalized horse racing and parliament betting violated the constitutional prohibition against operation of a lottery.

MacKrell also requested that the state comptroller be required to audit the books of the state racing commission.

The commission's nine members, revenue commissioner Otto A. Cook—as commission secretary, and comptroller John J. Truemper—were defendants to MacKrell's complaint. The commission and Cook were represented by Bruce Bullin, revenue department attorney, and Truemper was represented by the attorney general's office.

Roach's intervention was filed by Charles Nixon, former Pulaski county deputy prosecutor, while MacKrell was represented by former state welfare director John R. Thompson.

A ruling on MacKrell's suit was expected from the chancellor by tonight. Arguments in the case began immediately after Dodge had recognized the intervention.

Lewis Fined $20,000, UMW $1,400,000; Miners Leaving Pits

Majority of Miners Await Nod From Lewis

Pittsburgh, April 20 —(AP)—Soft coal miners streamed from the Batesville schools and Batesville, Ark., to await a nod from Lewis.

The miners were waiting for a nod from Lewis, who had been in charge of the first grade. She estimates that she has taught at least 2,000 pupils.

Little Rock, April 20 —(AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today denied a writ of prohibition to prevent Circuit Judge Maupin Cummings from hearing a contest over Fayetteville's municipal judgeship election.

Paul Jameson, declared winner of the Democratic nomination in the city primary, sought the writ on the ground that an amended complaint was filed after the 20-day period allowed for filing such actions.

V. James Ptak, incumbent, contested the primary results which showed received 910 votes to 975 for Jameson.

Jonesboro, April 20 —(UP)—Craighead County Sheriff Leon Brown indicated today that he was continuing a search for 21 persons indicted for gambling and legal liquor traffic, even as six others were preparing to go on trial on the same charges.

The charges grew out of a grand jury investigation, but only about one-fourth of those indicted were arrested.

These are five white men and one Negro, were ordered to trial beginning today by Judge Charles Light after pleading not guilty yesterday.

The men are Joe Buchanan, Charles Pope, Jess Hall, Edward Travis, Harry Prince and the Negro, Jessie Jones. All are from Jonesboro.

Here and There in Arkansas

Batesville, April 20 —(UP)—Three generations of Batesville were a bit wistful today after "Miss Ada" Arnold announced her resignation at the end of the present school year.

They will miss the kindly woman who has missed only three days of teaching because of illness since she entered the Batesville system as a substitute in 1897.

Mrs. Arnold was educated in the Batesville schools and attended Arkansas College at Batesville. She accepted her first regular teaching post in 1900 and gave it up in 1904 when she married the late Burton Arnold.

In 1918 she resumed teaching, and since 1920 has been in charge of the first grade. She estimates that she has taught at least 2,000 pupils.

Possibility of Jail Sentence for Mine Chief

Washington, April 20 —(AP)—John L. Lewis was fined $20,000, and the United Mine Workers $1,400,000 for contempt today, and the government, kept hanging over Lewis the threat of a jail sentence.

The possibility of jail still remained because Judge T. Alan Goldsborough imposed the fine only for criminal contempt. He will act Friday on a finding that Lewis and the UMW are guilty also of civil contempt for failing to heed a court's stop-work order.

Assistant Attorney General H. Brahm Morison said the government might recommend a jail sentence Friday if the coal miners are not working.

He said frankly that the purpose of the delay was to see whether the miners now settle down to full working schedules.

It was not clear from reaction in the field what the miners might do. Some said "we got a dirty deal." Others called the fines "not too bad."

Morison recommended only fines for criminal contempt. Goldsborough accepted the recommendation but said it had been his own inclination to send Lewis to jail.

Lewis sat silently through the proceedings in U. S. District Court. His massive jaws twitched but otherwise he gave no sign of emotion.

But his attorney, Welly K. Hopkins, said that the government attorneys were demanding "their pound of flesh."

He also accused the government of "politicizing" the case. Morison brought a protest from Morison and Goldsborough ruled the remarks out of order.

Hopkins shouted: "I forgive them. They know not what they do to all the 5,000,000 men, women and children in the jurisdiction of this union."

Criminal contempt is a penalty for disobedience of a court, or injury to the dignity of the court and its orders.

Youths Again Trying to Beat Roulette

Las Vegas, Nev., April 19 — (U.) Albert Hibbs and Dr. Roy Walford were back at the Nevada roulette wheels today and again were winning with the scientific system they invented in college. The youths were weary and bearded this morning after three days of almost solid gambling. But they were still playing and still winning. Early today they had run their $360 ante high enough to count $700 in profits. They played continuously with each man alternating on six-hour shifts. Hibbs is from Chillicothe, O., and Walford from San Diego, Cal. They are the same pair that gave casinos at Reno a hard time last year by running their $300 original stake up to $12,000. Hibbs and Walford were using the same system today that they used last year. They worked it out while they were students at the University of Chicago. The men start their play by watching a particular wheel for a long period, noting the frequency of numbers in a little black book. Then they apparently bet on the number which turns up most often. They continue to note number frequencies as they play. They started their play this weekend on the same number which won for them last year — number nine. Their $300 stake climbed to $1,200 before the number nine played out and most of their winnings dwindled away. After 53 1/2 hours play, the pair held a conference and checked the little book in their hotel room. Then they went back to the Golden Nugget casino and began play again with $200 in chips. This borough would fine Lewis and the United Mine Workers as he did in 1946, or send the UMW chieftain to jail. In addition to the estimated 10,000 who walked out in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Alabama, miners started scattered strikes in Tennessee, Wyoming, Indiana, and Kentucky. All but a handful of Ohio's 16,000 soft coal miners remained away from the pits today. When the new wave of walkouts began, only about 50,000 of the 400,000 bituminous miners had failed to return to their jobs following settlement of their pension dispute. Unless Judge Goldsborough should prove exceptionally lenient, however, further mine idleness seemed certain. Unidentified UMW workers in Kentucky's Harlan field said they would strike if Lewis should be jailed or fined. "We've got to stick with John F. regardless," one miner declared.

Muskogee, Okla., April 19 — (P.) Nearly 1,000 Oklahoma miners were reported idle today, presumably as the result of John L. Lewis' federal court conviction for contempt.

At Henryetta, the office of President Earl Wells of the Arkansas-Oklahoma Coal Operators Association, said miners in Henryetta field did not enter the pits today. Six principal mines in the area, Oklahoma's largest coal field, employed about 650 men.

Workers were also reported out at McAlester, where the largest operation employs approximately 325.

David Fowler, president of the United Mine Workers District 21, said he had no knowledge of what the miners were doing today. "But, he added, 'they are sore' and waiting to see what developed in Lewis' case."

time, however, they alternated between the one and zero. Once more they began winning and early today had built the $200 up to $254. They said that gave them a total profit as of that time of $700.

Crowds gathered five deep around the table to watch them. Many "nickel" bettors tried to cash in on the system. Casinos throughout Las Vegas reported a heavy run on number nine.

Once during a run of 146 straight losses on number nine, the number came up and would have paid Walford $96.25. He was talking to a spectator and missed the bet.

He laughed, but quickly stopped talking and concentrated on the wheel.

raid but gave no details. In Bologna, known as the "Italian Kremlin," a bomb exploded in front of a Christian Democrat campaigner's store, but no one was injured. The returns indicated Italy was on the way to discarding the welter of small parties which sprang up from the downfall of fascism and one-party government. Three minor parties which did fairly well were collecting some 10 percent of the vote. About two-thirds of this vote could be counted upon as allied to the Christian Democrats.

Giuseppe Saragat's lusty young independent Socialist party which grew out of the Socialist split over fusion with the Communists, gathered more than six percent of the total. The Republican party had more than three percent. The rightist National bloc of old-line liberals and assorted independents drew about six percent.

The unofficial returns for the 574-member Chamber of Deputies gave the National bloc of rightists 55,916 votes; the pro-Fascist Italian Social Movement (MSI) 12,580; the Republicans 73,294; and monarchist parties 54,247.

The minor parties would do somewhat better in the race for the Chamber than in the race for contests because any seats gained will be in direct proportion to the vote polled.

De Gasperi's office issued a statement which said the backing given the Christian Democrats "is even greater than we could have hoped for."

The partial returns so far from both senatorial and chamber of deputies contests, showed the Christian Democrats running ahead of the popular front almost everywhere, even in the north, where the left has its greatest strength.

A ministry of interior communiqué, issued at noon, referred to the "complete prevalence" of the Catholic party. Only a sharp reversal in the trend now can fulfill the left's hopes of winning Italy to the side of Russia at the ballot boxes. An Associated Press translation of official Chamber of Deputies returns from 4,183 precincts of the 41,641 in the nation gave the Christian Democrats 1,254,199 votes to 787,085 for the front almost two to one. The returns were scattered from north to south, all urban.

The anti-Communist Socialist wing, allied with the Christian Democrats in the government, was running third with 240,633 votes. The chamber vote is considered a better guide to Italian political sentiments than the balloting for the Senate, with its awkward, complicated method of election.

Giorgio Almirante, secretary-general of the pro-Fascist Italian Social Movement (MSI) predicted the Christian Democrats would get 200 of the 547 seats in the chamber. Mixed official and unofficial tabulations of returns from 17,437 of Italy's 41,647 electoral sections (precincts) in the senatorial races gave:

Christian Democrats 3,339,280, Popular Front 2,088,028. The Socialist Unity and Republican tickets combined got 730,853 votes in those precincts, making a total of 4,079,139 anti-Communist votes, approximately two to one.

America will shortly be ready, with money and goods, to provide Europe with some of the things that communism promises but cannot deliver. In the midst of cold war, the free countries of western civilization are at last ready to begin waging peace.

Floods Strike in Midwest Section

By United Press

A series of floods struck in the Midwest today as five streams went out of their banks in North Dakota and the big Ohio River crest moved majestically through Indiana and Kentucky territory.

The weary Army of volunteers and soldiers who won the battle to save Newport, Ky., from inundation today began the task of pumping out basements and flushing mud from streets flooded by seepage the men, women and children could not keep out.

The Ohio was expected to crest this morning at nearly 70 feet near New Albany and Jeffersonville, Ind., where about 125 families have been sheltered in tents.

National Guard officials said, however, that the Southern Indiana flood emergency was over. The Ohio's tributaries, the upper White and the Wabash rivers, were reported falling at all points.

The five rivers out of their banks in North Dakota were the Park, the Tongue, the Forest, the Red and the Sheyenne.

The Park river poured two feet of water into residential and business areas of Graton, N.D., forcing 25 families to leave their homes. The water threatened to knock out generators at the Graton power plant and cut off telephone communication into the town.

The Tongue river nearly isolated backs were attempted, there was scant response. Most issues closed well under the best.

New 1948 highs were touched by Distillers Corp., Union Pacific, Pennsylvania Railroad, New York Central, Southern Railway, Plymouth, Oil, Pacific Western Oil, Phelps Dodge and American Smelting Corp., although some of these subsequently sagged. Holding gains were J. I. Case, International Harvester, Woolworth, Montgomery Ward, Deep Rock Oil, Mission Corp., and American Smelting. On the outside were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Union Carbide and Transcontinental & Western.

Bonds were mixed.

Jack Holt May Announce This Week

Little Rock, April 20 — (P) — The Arkansas Democratic reported today that Horace E. Thompson and Jack Holt are sure to enter the governor's race before the close of this week. Thompson, U. S. Internal Revenue collector for Arkansas since 1945, is only awaiting formal acceptance of his resignation, the Democrat said. He reported his official announcement probably would be made Thursday or Friday.

Holt, former attorney general, will make his announcement probably late Saturday, the Democrat said.

Announcements by Thompson and Holt will leave at least three potential candidates still on the fence," the newspaper said. These were listed as former Lt. Gov. Bob Bailey; former Lonoke county judge Jim Malone; and State Banks Commissioner Tom W. Leyvelt.

Seven others already have announced for governor.

Get Welcome Relief From Stomach Gas. Sour Food Taste

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal? If so, here is how you may rid yourself of this nervous distress. Thousands have found it the way to be well, cheerful and happy again.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

THE STORY: Paul, angry at first when he recognizes Patience sitting with Roger Dickson in the stage box, decides he must talk to her. He craves the backstage party. Seeing a sophisticated-looking Patience, he approaches her. She does not seem to know him.

Paul stared at her. This was too much. He thought how changed she was. She might not be his Patience at all. For one wild moment he wondered if indeed she wasn't. But that, of course, was completely crazy. She was Patience all right. But in a completely different Patience. A Patience who was lovely and sophisticated, but not at all the way he liked her. Even her voice tonight seemed somehow different.

"Ah, there you are, my sweet," Roger Dickson was bearing down on them.

Her face lit up. There was no mistaking the way she felt about him.

Paul turned away in disgust and pushed past the ever-increasing crowd towards the exit. As he went her voice floated after him.

"Darling, I'm glad you happened along just then. That young man you saw me with was really behaving in the oddest manner."

Bills Before UN Ask for Some Revision to Prevent Promiscuous Use of Veto

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

There are before the U. S. Congress 31 bills which, in one way or another, are calculated to deal with the abuse of the veto power where Russia has been hamstringing the United Nations.

All these proposals provide for a revision of the U. N. charter. However, at least a couple of them are so framed that the present U. N. could be allowed a rumble along while the anti-Red democracies formed a new organization free of Soviet interference.

These bills are concrete evidence of a strong sentiment for some action against promiscuous use of the veto. Moreover, in the U. N. membership itself we find Australia—a big opponent of the veto—and Argentina leading a group of small nations to revise the charter in this respect.

The veto right is accorded the Big Five—America, Russia, Britain, France and China—in the security council, which alone can impose sanctions. Thus far the Muscovites have used this all-powerful weapon 23 times, whereas France is the only other power to resort to it. She has used it twice.

Revision of the veto provision would, of course, be a ticklish undertaking. The United States insisted on establishment of the veto as a protection against impingement on sovereignty, and there has been no sign that the Washington

Fayetteville, April 20 —(AP)—The city of Fayetteville has not filed a financial report with the county clerk according to Arkansas law. White who wants Mayor George T. Sanders to explain why.

White said such a report is required by law, but that he could not find one on file here. He also said that he and the prosecutor had been denied access to records of the recently constructed $152,000 municipal sewage disposal plant.

Mayor Sanders was out of the city and not available for comment.

Little Rock, April 20 —(AP)—The Employers Casualty Company has a commission award of $250 weekly to set aside a Sebastian Circuit Court judgment requiring it to pay half of a workmen's compensation commission award.

The Sebastian court affirmed a commission award of $250 weekly to set aside a Sebastian Circuit Court judgment requiring it to pay half of a workmen's compensation commission award.

At the same time, the company applied for authority to construct a $350,000 transmission line from near Danville to near Russellville, a distance of approximately 25 miles.

Little Rock, April 19 —(AP)—John C. Sheffield, Helena, filed his corrupt practices pledge today as a candidate for circuit judge of the 1st judicial district. Other candidates are Elmo Taylor and C. E. Yingling, Searcy attorneys.

Clyde M. Lacey filed his pledge as a candidate for the State Senate from Miller county. Other candidates are incumbent Brooks Montgomery and Rep. Guy R. Redd. All are from Texarkana.

Little Rock, April 19 —(AP)—James government would agree to elimination. However, America has indicated that it would like to disregard the veto except for fundamental rights affecting sovereignty. This is naturally a point to which it is total and in fact undoubtedly would employ it against charter revision.

This being the case, where do we turn for relief? Well, it strikes me that perhaps the situation is rapidly being taken care of by the recent creation of international organizations within the democratic bloc. These organizations are tacit recognition that there are in truth "two worlds"—the democratic and the totalitarian communist bloc. It would be amazingly stupid not to recognize this when the two blocs are engaged in a "cold war" which borders dangerously on the "hot." The organizations to which I refer are these:

Last September 10 American republics met in Rio de Janeiro and signed a mutual defense treaty for the Western Hemisphere. A month ago Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg entered into a fifty-year partnership to defend their democratic way of life against any aggressor.

Then last week representatives of 16 western European nations and the American-British-French occupied zones of Germany met in Paris and adopted a convention binding themselves into a permanent organization for economic co-operation. These are the countries participating in the Marshall plan, and they include Greece and Turkey.

Now then, coordinate these various organizations all of which aim at economic rehabilitation and defense against aggression, and you have a new peace organization free of Soviet influence. And the way it looks from here, that's exactly what is happening.

That needn't interfere with the U. N. There's room enough for both. As a matter of fact the U. N. may serve a useful purpose as a sounding-board. It's the only place where the Russian viewpoint is fully aired.

E. McDaniel, Jonesboro, today filed his corrupt practice pledge as a candidate for First District congressman.

He will oppose Rep. E. C. Gathings, West Memphis, who has filed for re-election.

The first district includes Phillips, Lee, St. Francis, Woodruff, Cross, Crittenden, Poinsett, Craighead, Mississippi, Greene, and Clay counties.

Batesville, April 19 —(AP)—The Cave City high school gymnasium, 12 miles north of here, was destroyed by fire today. School officials estimated the loss at about $50,000.

Students Billy Tom Taylor and Charles Crosby were injured while fighting the blaze. Taylor was burned about the arms and face. Crosby suffered a broken arm.

The building, a native structure, was built four years ago and was rebuilt this year.

No other buildings were damaged. The main plant of the school burned four years ago and was rebuilt this year.

Case of the fire was undetermined. Cave City has no fire department.

Little Rock, April 20 —(AP)—City bus fare in Little Rock becomes 10 cents now or three for a quarter next Sunday.

The Arkansas Public Service Commission yesterday authorized the Capital Transportation Company which operates the Little Rock and North Rock bus system, to put into effect an "interim" fare increase.

In addition to fares of 10 cents and three tokens for 25 cents, the commission authorized a five cent fare for children under 12 and school children.

The company, last September, was permitted to increase its fares from six to the present seven cents.

In issuing the order, the commission said it did not believe sufficient information was available on which to base a permanent fare.

It directed the company to "take steps consistent with good operation and the public interest to improve unbecoming operations."

Little Rock, April 19 —(AP)—Two new boys were credited today with saving the lives of 12 occupants of an apartment house which was damaged by fire here.

The boys are David Schuster, 14, and Robert Gwin, 16, carriers for the Arkansas Democrat.

Their employer reported today: "The two boys were on route about 2:45 a.m. yesterday morning to obtain their papers for delivery. Passing an apartment building at 212 West 18th, they noticed a fire in the front room of a downstairs apartment."

The lads rushed into the apartment shouting and ringing doorbells, suiting their hands to all occupants of the building.

Little Rock, April 19 —(AP)—Secretary of State C. G. Hall received a request today for an evacuation of the city of an Arkansas Chapter of the Serenaders of America, Inc., a social organization.

An Indiana attorney wrote Hall that the corporation wanted to enter this state to "do business." He described the organization as a group of "mere social clubs."

Camden, April 19 —(AP)—O. L. Ferrell, 54, Cotton Belt railway switch engine conductor, was injured critically here yesterday when run over by a freight engine.

Ferrell lost his left leg and suffered severe injuries to his right leg. Apparently he crossed a track behind one train and did not see the approaching engine. He is in a hospital here.

Little Rock, April 20 —(AP)—Trial of Billy E. Forby, 26-year-old war veteran charged with rape of a seven-year-old school girl, March 29, has been set for May 6 in Pulaski county circuit court.

Prosecutor Edwin Dumaway said the trial date was set after the state hospital reported it had found Forby sane.

Lewis Fined

$400,000 for contempt of a court's stop-work order.

Judge T. Alan Goldsborough accepted a government recommendation for those fines, but said it had been his own inclination to send Lewis to jail.

The fines are just double what the bushy-browed UMW chief and his miners had to pay after they similarly were found guilty in 1945 of contempt for ignoring a court's stop-work order.

Then Goldsborough fined Lewis $10,000 and the union $3,500,000, but the supreme court cut the union's fine to $700,000.

Today the court hearing the reason for delaying the civil contempt sentence until Friday was to exercise a club over Lewis and the union to get all the miners back to work.

He said another heavy fine—and even a jail penalty against Lewis—is possible if all the miners are not back at work by this time.

The idea is to provide time to see what they will do by Friday," Morison said.

Asked specifically if the Justice Department may recommend jail for Lewis if part of the miners are still out Friday, Morison said:

"We might."

Immediately after Goldsborough acted, AFL President William Green issued a statement saying the establishment of labor or labor leaders for exercising the right to stop work "will cause resentment in the minds of those directly concerned and by those who are indirectly affected," Green added.

"The best interests of the government would be served if its representatives would stop immediately their attempt to prosecute and punish the mine workers and their leaders and instead concentrate their efforts toward bringing about full production in sufficient volume to meet the maximum national needs."

During the entire court proceedings, Lewis sat solidly, with scarcely a slight motion.

Once or twice his heavy jaws twitched.

In civil contempt, penalties are used up based on damages done. So penalties are often fixed to increase if damages continue.

This might result in Goldsborough imposing a daily penalty in the future if the miners do not work in protest against the criminal contempt fines.

Many were out of the mines today, waiting to see the outcome of the case.

Lewis' attorney, Welly K. Hopkins, filed notice of intention to appeal the contempt conviction. This was done right after sentence was imposed.

"If this court was to use its individual judgment it would impose a prison sentence."

But the judge added that he was only one man and was accepting the advice of the government.

Assistant Attorney General H. Graham Morison had recommended only the fines and said nothing about prison.

When he proposed them, Morison reminded the judge that Lewis and the UMW were "second offenders."

Morison said to court should "discipline these defendants sufficiently to impress upon them permanently," that they must obey the courts.

Hopkins asked the judge to hold up the fines pending outcome of the appeal.

Morison objected and Goldsborough ruled "there is no reason the judgment should be stayed."

Then Hopkins said bond equal to the amount of the combined fines would be posted.

Goldsborough gave him until 10 a. m. (EST) tomorrow to do so.

In deciding against sentencing Lewis to jail, Goldsborough commented: "The court is only one man and only the judgment of only one individual. As I said yesterday, the government has access to more material."

"The court feels it should adopt recommendations of the government unless it shocks the conscience of the court."

"The court thinks all of that was covered by the court yesterday."

"So fine is assessed against the defendant union $1,400,000 and against the individual, $20,000."

Hopkins protested he knew of "no good purpose" in putting of the sentence on civil contempt until Friday.

Goldsborough said he didn't either. But he granted Morison's motion for the delay.

Presumably, Morison, who in making this suggestion had in mind a wait-to-see what happens in the coal fields. Many miners walked out yesterday after the contempt finding.

Lewis sent a letter to the membership saying they were independent agents and free to continue idle. No strike had been called. Lewis reminded the 400,000 soft coal miners.

Hopkins remarked "it was strange" that the government had failed to mention Lewis' April 3 letter.

Hopkins charged "political motives" on the part of the government.

Morison rose and objected. He said he didn't want to cut off Hopkins but "I won't stand for that sort of thing."

Goldsborough ruled that Hopkins' remarks went "beyond the scope of an orderly argument." He ordered them stricken from the record. Hopkins declared "that with all the power of compulsion" on government agents, "acting in roles of Gestapo at times, the government has been unable (he banged the table) to produce a scintilla of proof here."

Goldsborough pointed out that Hopkins had chosen not to make an argument on the merits of the case at the end of the trial last Thursday.

"You're making an argument now which should have been made prior to the court's action," the judge said.
